Travelling by train

The ICC is served by the UK's largest interchange rail station, Birmingham New Street and the smaller Five Ways Station. Both stations are a short walk from the ICC and taxi ranks are situated close by. Birmingham New Street has direct and regular services to Birmingham International railway station which directly links to Birmingham International Airport and The NEC. It also has many direct services to London Euston, including a service that takes just 80 minutes and runs every 20 minutes.

Birmingham's two other city centre train stations, Moor St and Snow Hill, are also within quick and easy access of the ICC and directly connected to London Marylebone via a half hourly service. Download the maps for walking directions from the 3 main city centre train stations.

Travelling by foot

The ICC is located in the well-known, accessible Broad Street area of Birmingham city centre, adjacent to Brindley Place and Centenary Square. Download this city map and follow the below the directions.

- Walking to the ICC from any part of Birmingham city centre is easy, well signposted and takes 10-15 minutes:
- From New Street, head up to Victoria Square (the opposite direction to the Bull Ring shopping centre)
- At Victoria Square, the Town Hall is on your left and Birmingham Museum & Art Gallery is on the right next to the Council House
- Follow the signs to the ICC through Fletchers Walk and across Centenary Square

- You will see the ICC straight ahead, past the new Library of Birmingham and the Rep Theatre on your right.
