

In the UK, we have one of the most complex tax and benefits systems, so it's important to understand the basics.

Tax Year

The UK tax year runs from the 6th April to the 5th April the following year. Each year, the Chancellor of the Exchequer delivers a Budget Statement to the House of Commons, announcing the government's tax and spending plans for the year ahead and proposed changes to taxation.

Key dates:

- 5th April
End of last tax year.
- 6th April
First day of new tax year.
- 31st May
Deadline for copies of P60 documents to be issued to employees.
- 31st October
Deadline for paper submission of self-assessment tax returns for the previous tax year.
- 31st January
Deadline for online self-assessment tax returns the previous tax year.

Income Tax

Tax codes and allowances

Your tax code will normally start with a number and end with a letter. 1257L is the tax code for 2022/23 tax year currently used for most people who have one job or receive a pension. This is the amount you can earn before having to pay any tax. This personal allowance will remain the same for the tax year 2023/24.

So for someone with a tax code of 1257L, they can earn £12,570 before having to pay any income tax.

- Basic rate tax (20%) Your personal allowance to £50,270 pa
- Higher rate tax (40%) £50,271 to £150,000 pa
- Additional rate (45%) over £150,000 pa

For more details on how your tax code is calculated and what it means click here.

Personal savings allowance

Personal savings allowance refers to the amount of income generated from savings each year.

- Basic-rate taxpayers can earn up to £1,000 in savings interest before paying tax.
- Higher-rate taxpayers can earn up to £500 in savings interest before paying tax.
- Additional rate tax payers do not have a personal savings allowance.

National Insurance

You pay National Insurance contributions to qualify for certain benefits and the State Pension.

You pay mandatory National Insurance if you're 16 or over and are either:

- an employee earning above £242 a week
- self-employed and making a profit of £6,725 or more a year

There are different types of National Insurance (known as 'classes'). The type you pay depends on your employment status and how much you earn.

If you're employed, you stop paying Class 1 National Insurance when you reach the State Pension age.

If you're self-employed you stop paying:

- Class 2 National Insurance when you reach State Pension age
- Class 4 National Insurance from 6 April (start of the tax year) after you reach State Pension age

Value Added Tax (VAT)

VAT standard rate of 20% is paid on most goods and services. Some goods have a reduced rate payable of 5% and these include items such as children's car seats and home energy. There are also some goods and services that have a zero rate of VAT payable and these include most food and children's clothes. Other items are completely exempt from VAT including postage stamps and property transactions (which is taxed in a different way).

Capital Gains Tax

Capital Gains Tax is a tax on the profit when you sell (or 'dispose of') something (an 'asset') that's increased in value. It's the gain you make that's taxed, not the amount of money you receive.

Some assets are tax-free. You also do not have to pay Capital Gains Tax if all your gains in a year are under your tax-free allowance £12,300 or £6,150 for trusts.

Disposing of an asset includes:

- selling it
- giving it away as a gift, or transferring it to someone else
- swapping it for something else
- getting compensation for it - like an insurance payout if it's been lost or destroyed

NATIONAL INSURANCE CLASS	WHO PAYS
Class 1	Employees earning more than £242 a week and under State Pension age - they're automatically deducted by your employer.
Class 1A or 1B	Employers pay these directly on their employee's expenses or benefits.
Class 2	Self-employed people earning more than £6,725 a year. If you're earning less than this, you can choose to pay voluntary contributions to fill or avoid gaps in your National Insurance record.
Class 3	Voluntary contributions - you can pay them to fill or avoid gaps in your National Insurance record.
Class 4	Self-employed people earning over £11,909 a year.

Last Will and Testament of Inheritance Tax

Inheritance Tax is a tax on the estate (the property, money and possessions) of someone who's died.

There's normally no Inheritance Tax to pay if either:

- the value of your estate is below the £325,000 threshold
- you leave everything above the £325,000 threshold to your spouse, civil partner, a charity or a community amateur sports club

If the estate's value is below the threshold you'll still need to report it to HMRC.

If you give away your home to your children (including adopted, foster or stepchildren) or grandchildren your threshold can increase to £500,000.

If you're married or in a civil partnership and your estate is worth less than your threshold, any unused threshold can be added to your partner's threshold when you die. This means their threshold can be as much as £1 million.

The standard Inheritance Tax rate is 40%. It's only charged on the part of your estate that's above the threshold.

The estate can pay Inheritance Tax at a reduced rate of 36% on some assets if you leave 10% or more of the 'net value' to charity in your will.

Reliefs and exemptions - some gifts you give while you're alive may be taxed after your death.

Depending on when you gave the gift, 'taper relief' might mean the Inheritance Tax charged on the gift is less than 40%.

Other reliefs, such as Business Relief, allow some assets to be passed on free of Inheritance Tax or with a reduced bill.

Who pays the tax to HMRC - funds from your estate are used to pay Inheritance Tax to HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC). This is done by the person dealing with the estate (called the 'executor', if there's a will).

Your beneficiaries (the people who inherit your estate) do not normally pay tax on things they inherit. They may have related taxes to pay, for example if they get rental income from a house left to them in a will.

People you give gifts to might have to pay Inheritance Tax, but only if you give away more than £325,000 and die within 7 years.
