I confirm that I have read the Canada Life Group Critical Illness Insurance Member Guide.

I understand that the policy terms contain exclusions, which are fully described in the member guide, this may mean that the benefit will not be payable. In particular, no benefit will be payable if:

The condition diagnosed or circumstance involved does not meet the relevant definition of a critical illness.

- The illness is a pre-existing medical condition.
- I had a related condition at the time of joining .

Pre-Existing medical condition

No benefit will be payable under your employer's policy in respect of an insured illness (or repeat of the same insured illness) which was first diagnosed, treated, or which was known to have existed by the potential claimant (you or your child) before entering this policy, or any previous critical illness policy arranged by your employer, or the date of any increase in benefit.

Related condition

No benefit will be payable for an insured illness if any related condition existed at any time prior to entering this policy, any other critical illness policy arranged by your employer or the date of any increase in benefit.
